

JOSHIAH

www.joshiah.com

Caveat: This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited. Editorial comments are in parentheses; probable wording is in square brackets.

September 2, 2007

Joshiah: Well now. And it is indeed a pleasure to be invited back into your vibrational level, and we would like to express our greetings to each of you and as well express our gratitude for your, once again, offering us this opportunity to enter into, interact and to share with each of you in your vibrational level and in your reality.

Now. Once again, before we begin this afternoon we would like suggest that there exists for each of you the opportunity to be involved in what we refer to as a silent communication, the opportunity for you to have a telepathic interaction with other entities that would be with us on this afternoon, or indeed with that portion of your higher self that you might refer to as your spark of consciousness or that spark of consciousness that has the capacity and the ability to create this reality that you exist in. And once again, many times the interaction that you participate in in that so-called silent communication is much more pertinent to your individual needs and desires than is the information that we express through our friend, Elias.

And as well, many times that information is much more accurate, as it is information that you have the opportunity to experience without the limitations of a vocabulary. A communication based upon the level of emotions and feelings rather than based upon, once again, this limited vocabulary expression.

And so, we would encourage you to become involved in that silent communication, and you will find that as a result of the energy that you have created in this sacred place on this afternoon that it's quite easy for you to alter your consciousness and enter into what you might refer to as a meditative state, an altered state of consciousness, and in that altered state of consciousness have that ability and capacity to be involved in that silent communication. And so, we would encourage you most certainly, but once again, we also would suggest that the choice to do so is yours, absolutely.

Now. You exist, once again, in a vibrational level that is quite similar to all of the vibrational levels that exist throughout creation. And you can call them vibrational levels, you can call them planes of existence, it really doesn't matter. We use the terminology of a vibrational level because it comes the closest to giving some type of an explanation based upon the understanding of what a vibration is. And it's the alterations of that vibration that allows you to become involved in different interactions and communications in other areas of existence, absolutely.

And so, you exist in a vibrational level similar to all of the other vibrational levels that exist throughout all of creation and yet this vibrational level that you exist in is rather unique. The similarities are that the reality that you experience in this vibrational level is, first of all, a reflection of the beliefs that you hold. And not only some of the reality you experience but the entire experience that you have in this vibrational level in your so-called awake consciousness state. And indeed even in those altered states of consciousness that you refer to as a meditative state or a dream state or a between incarnational state, it really doesn't matter what state of consciousness you're in, the reality that you experience is a reflection of the beliefs that you hold. Absolutely and entirely, not only some of it but all of it. And in that sense it's similar to other existences and other vibrational levels. Absolutely.

Now, we understand that that's a concept that's hard for you to grasp at this so-called awake consciousness state but nonetheless it's a very accurate one. Your reality is a reflection of the beliefs that you hold. Absolutely.

Other similarities in this vibrational level to other vibrational levels is that the reality that you are experiencing is also an illusory reality. It doesn't mean it's insignificant. It doesn't mean that it doesn't have importance. It doesn't mean that you should simply put it aside as being something that has absolutely no value because it's illusory, absolutely not. But it's illusory nonetheless. Illusory in the sense that it's a reflection of the belief that you hold. The beliefs that you hold as a human consciousness and as a society and indeed as individuals. Illusory reality.

Now. Some of the uniqueness of your vibrational level is not experienced in other vibrational levels, is that you exist within certain limitations that you, you as individuals and as a society and, once again, as a human consciousness and primarily as a human consciousness has put in place. You as a human consciousness and as individuals who have agreed to participate in this creation process has put in place what we refer to as an electromagnetic type of energy that exists throughout your vibrational level that has several purposes. An electromagnetic type of energy that, first of all, limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are while you exist within this vibrational level. Unique—does not exist in any other vibrational level throughout all of creation. Your vibrational level, the one that you choose to create and to exist in, has limitations based upon your choice to put in place that electromagnetic type of energy. And that electromagnetic type of energy exists throughout your entire vibrational level, in every atom, throughout this entire universe.

You see, when you are in your awake consciousness state the universe seems to be almost overwhelming at times. It seems to be such a huge, encompasses [anything greater], “The universe has an effect upon me.” Absolutely not. You have an effect upon the universe and if the universe seemingly has an effect on you in your awake consciousness state that’s because you choose to allow it, for no reason other than that.

You are the one who influences your entire existence in this vibrational level, and once again, you do it as individuals and as a society and as a human consciousness, but you influence your vibrational level. You influence your existence in this vibrational level, you influence your universe, it’s not the other way around. Absolutely not. You are individuals who are created and sustaining and maintaining this vibrational level. And once again, that electromagnetic type of energy that we refer to, that some of your so-called New Agers have referred to as the veil, exists in each and every atom of the entire universe. And does that seem difficult to comprehend? It’s only difficult to comprehend when you’re in your awake consciousness state and you believe that your universe is beyond your capacity to influence or control.

When we began we made one simple statement: you exist in an illusion. This universe that you believe is seemingly beyond your capacity, that seems to be limitless almost, it seems to have absolutely no end, is an illusion. It doesn’t mean it’s insignificant, once again, it doesn’t mean it doesn’t have some importance, it means it’s an illusion. And [is an] illusion [you] as entities existing within this vibrational level exist within each and every atom of the entire illusion because it’s your illusion. It’s an illusion. It’s important to comprehend that particular understanding and that statement that it’s an illusion.

And so, this electromagnetic type of energy that we refer to as a veil that you put in place throughout your entire illusion and consequently throughout your entire universe, exists within each and every atom of the entire universe and it limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are while you are in your so-called awake consciousness state.

One of the other significant properties, if you wish, of this so-called veil, of this electromagnetic type of energy that you have chosen to put in place also limits other entities existing outside of your vibrational level from having the capacity to interfere in your creation process. You create it all as individuals and as a society and as a human consciousness. You create it all. There’s no other entity existing outside of your vibrational level that has the capacity or the ability or even the desire, for that fact, to interfere in your creation process. There’s not a bunch of entities sitting out there saying, “Well, I believe that it’s time for this universe to suffer this type of a reality or experience this type of a new reality or to suddenly have some certain type of desirable creation experience.” Absolutely not. You, as individuals and as a human consciousness, create it all. You create it all, and it’s illusory.

And so, that portion of your creation process and your vibrational level is unique. There’s not another vibrational level existing outside of this particular vibrational level that you choose to exist in that experiences or puts in place that limits their capacity to understand who and what they truly are.

The veil, if you wish, the electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are through your various levels of consciousness in this vibrational level, is unique to this vibrational level. It does not exist in any other vibrational level, and once again, as we’ve suggested many times the purpose for the existence of that veil and the purpose that you choose to exist in this vibrational level and to be involved in your illusory reality is because you choose to have the opportunity to experience a reality in the creation where you believe in your so-called awake consciousness state that you’re not in control. And as a result of your capacity to believe you’re not in control and your limitation of your understanding of who and what you truly are, you have the capacity and the ability to experience an intense range of emotions and feelings that are not experienced by [any] other entities in any of the other vibrational levels that exist throughout all of creation.

Now. That’s why you’re here. That’s why you choose to participate and to be involved in this vibrational level. You choose to enter into this vibrational level, and you choose to limit your capacity to understand who and what you truly are, and you choose the reality that you experience, once again, both as a human consciousness and as a society and as individuals. You choose, your choice, absolutely and entirely.

Now. In your awake consciousness state you hold certain beliefs and beliefs that we refer to as human consciousness belief systems, that allow you that ability to believe that this is real. That make your universe seem to be something that’s beyond your capacity to influence or to control. In that so-called limited capacity to understand who and what you truly are in this awake consciousness state, you indeed put in place certain so-called belief systems that are human consciousness belief systems that we refer to many times as the laws of physics. And one of the most difficult for you to understand as being an illusion is the belief in time and space.

You believe that it has a passage of time, in fact you've gone to all types of attempts to measure time. You've utilized and created all types of instruments that can validate your belief that there's this time and space concept. Makes it real. It makes it beyond your capacity to influence and to control. The irony of it is that it's an illusion. You see, your entire vibrational level is an illusion. And once again, that's an aspect of your vibrational level that is not unique. That exists in all of the other vibrational levels throughout all of creation. However, in your illusion you believe that it's real. And in your illusion, once again, you put in place that time and space concept to validate your belief that this is real.

And so, you attempt to have answers, if you wish, to various questions that are based upon an illusionary reality that's a reflection of the belief that you hold. There are individuals who would believe that you have certain elements or aspects of creation that have occurred in your so-called past. And you create all types of realities to validate that passage of time and that it has occurred in your past.

You look at your past and you have your recorded history. Your scientists will look into your so-called past and look into your so-called records, even records that are beyond their recorded records that you have been written down but records that are based upon certain studies and aspects in your geology, in your archeology, as what has happened in your past. And as a result of that discoveries and that understanding, it validates in your reality that you have a past. It validates the passage of time. And it makes it real.

The irony of it is that time and space are illusions. The irony of it is that you continuously alter your past as readily as you alter your future. You simply don't believe that. You see, if you were to understand that in your so-called awake consciousness state then this vibrational level that you exist in would no longer have the same validity that it does in your so-called present time, when you believe that there is this concept of time and space. When they are really illusions, absolutely. It's an illusionary reality. Significant, once again, but illusionary.

And so, you believe in this passage of time and space. You have difficulty understanding and grasping the concept in your awake consciousness state that you exist in all of the other levels. And it becomes difficult to even use a phrase based upon your vocabulary that can give you any type of an understanding or a grasp of that concept of the illusionary reality of time and space.

You see, when we attempt to suggest that you exist in all of the other so-called existences, both in your past and your future, we continuously use terminology that's based upon a belief in time and (inaudible). It's based upon that belief that there is indeed that passage of time. For example, we could suggest that you exist in all of the other vibrational levels and in all of the other existences and in all of your other so-called incarnational periods simultaneously. But you see, to suggest that, once again, is based upon a vocabulary that incorporates that concept and belief of time and space. Even to suggest that you exist in the now, well, what's the now? The now is the so-called gap, if you wish, between your past and your present. That's the now. It's the present. You see, it becomes very difficult to give you any type of an explanation through the use of a vocabulary that's not based upon your belief in time and space.

Each of you, however, has the capacity to go within. Each of you has a capacity to alter your consciousness and in that altered state of consciousness you can get glimpses of this understanding of that concept that you exist in the now. Each of you at some point in your so-called awake consciousness state have certain recalls of so-called dreams that you're experiencing in your dream state. Dreams, if you wish, of [how] realities that you're experiencing and creating and [may] actually existing in, in a point of your consciousness where you had the capacity to get glimpses of what it's like to have the so-called passage of time that incorporates both your past and your present and your future, simultaneously, all at once, if you wish.

Each of you can bring back and indeed have brought back into your awake consciousness state glimpses of that understanding that time and space are illusions. It becomes very difficult for you to hold that concept in your awake consciousness state and you look at that so-called altered state of consciousness as being imaginary. "But I was just dreaming. You know, it's not really that way, it's this way. It's in my awake consciousness state when there's time and space." I mean, you have all types of existences and realities and so-called interactions with other entities where you look at it and say, "Well, I can prove, I can validate that there's the passage of time and space. But when I'm in that altered state of consciousness, when I'm in the dream state, I can't validate what I was experiencing there because, you see, that's all imaginary."

Well, we would suggest that it's not that way at all. We would suggest that this so-called awake consciousness state that you're existing in is the most imaginary and illusionary state that you will exist in, because you exist in it while you, once again, reinforce and validate the belief that you are not in control through the existence and sustaining of that veil. Of that electromagnetic type of energy that makes this seem real and that makes the altered state of consciousness seem illusionary and imaginary. And it's really not that way, it's exactly the opposite.

And so, time and space are illusions. Not only are time and space are illusions but this entire vibrational level, this entire existence that you experience in your awake consciousness state is illusionary. And once again, we emphasize that it doesn't mean it's insignificant or that it's not important but rather that it's illusionary.

You see, there are entities existing in your vibrational level who believe, if you wish, that you are indeed changing this vibrational level that you exist in. Some of those entities understand and believe that at your so-called awake consciousness state. There are other entities who exist in your vibrational level who at this level of consciousness don't believe that at all. They don't believe in this illusionary concept, they don't believe in the so-called awake consciousness state that there is anything but this reality, that this is it. All of the rest is what's illusionary, and only when you're in your awake consciousness state are you really in control. And yet, it's not that way, once again. It's exactly the opposite.

However, those individuals have difficulty in believing that at some level of your consciousness you as a human consciousness have agreed to alter the energy that makes up this vibrational level, the energy indeed that influences your veil, that electromagnetic type of energy that limits your capacity to understand who and what you truly are.

You as a human consciousness have chosen to make that alteration, if you wish, in the energy. It's not universal, it's not some other entity existing outside of your vibrational level who's decided, "Oh well, you've progressed to a certain point and now you can have this reward." Absolutely not. It's your choice. And it's illusionary. It's important that you understand that it's illusionary for, you see, if you believe that it's real, if you believe that this is all that there is, and if you believe that it's influenced by entities existing outside your vibrational level, if you believe that there are angels or guides or whatever that are creating this reality for you, there's nothing wrong with that, you can have it. But with it, as well, come the limitations. If you believe you're not in control, then you will create the reality to validate that belief. If you believe that this reality is absolutely firm and real and solid and you can't alter it, that it's influenced by some cosmos or by the universe, then you will validate that, absolutely.

But with that type of a belief system, as well, comes the limitations of understanding that it's your reality, of understanding that the experiences that you're involved in in your day-to-day activities are as a result of the beliefs that you hold. If you wish to believe as a society and human consciousness wish to believe, for example, that you have aliens that exist in your so-called universe, understand that the universe is an illusion and you can have whatever it is that you desire.

And if you hold that belief and if you hold it as a human consciousness or even as a society or indeed or even as an individual, you can create the reality, not only can, but will and do create the reality to validate the belief.

If you wish to have aliens, you can have that, it's an illusion. You can have it as readily as you can have any other illusion. You see, that's the irony, you create this reality and it's a reflection of the beliefs that you hold. And it's an illusionary reality and you can change it. And you do it whether you choose to believe that you do it or not, in your so-called awake consciousness state. You see, that's the irony. You do it now. In your awake conscious state, you may choose to believe that you're not in control.

You see, many times that's much more comfortable. Not only is it much more comfortable, but indeed enhances your capacity to experience that intense range of emotions and feelings that you're not in control of because, you see, if this is real and you're not in control, then how can you control those emotions and feelings or indeed how can you control the events and interactions that you're involved in that are responsible for those emotions and feelings?

If you believe you're not in control, you will indeed create the reality to validate the belief. If you wish to believe that it's not possible for you to influence or to create your reality then you can have that. You see, it's not right or wrong, once again. This is not a right or wrong concept. You don't have to believe in this reality creation process, absolutely not. No one's going to look at you and say, "Well, you're doing it wrong." Absolutely not.

The spark of consciousness that you are that creates this reality creates it without judgment. There is no right or wrong at that level of your consciousness that creates this reality. Your consciousness doesn't look at it and say, "Well, that's not very good for them. I'm not going to do that." Or look at it and say, "Well, I know they're not going to enjoy this, but it's what they want so we'll give it to them anyway. But it's going to be done begrudgingly." Absolutely not. That spark of consciousness that you are creates the reality that you desire that is a reflection of the beliefs that you hold and it does so joyously from a position of absolute unconditional love and it does so without judgment. Right or wrong, good or bad is an awake human consciousness concept and it does not exist at that level of your consciousness from which you create this reality.

And so, if you wish to believe that you have a universe that's beyond your capacity to control then that spark of consciousness that you are creates that reality to validate the belief and you'll have all types of examples to prove that that's how it is. And it's not right or wrong but it's still an illusion.

You see, you create your reality. Absolutely, entirely. There is not one aspect of this creation and of this reality that you're experiencing that you are not responsible for, either as an individual or as a society or as a human consciousness and as a human consciousness you absolutely agree to participate in that type of creation process. That's why you came here. That was one of the so-called agreements that you put in place. Your choice.

It's important as well to understand that it's your choice. You see, you create this reality, it's a reflection of the beliefs that you hold, you can influence it through your choices and decisions and through your thoughts and feelings and through your imagination and your desires and your expectations, absolutely. You not only can but do create it and control it and influence it, whether you believe it or not doesn't really matter, it's still your reality. You create it. Whether you accept that concept consciously doesn't matter. Absolutely not. You still do it. If you choose to believe that you're not in control then you simply create the reality to validate the belief and the spark of consciousness that you are creates that reality as readily and as joyously as it would create any other reality that you desire to experience. It does so without judgment. Absolutely. (Inaudible) you do create the reality.

Now. You as individuals are a spark of consciousness that has that capacity to create. Not only has the capacity to create, but does create. You do it. You do it, entirely, absolutely unconditionally, there's not an exception. You are, for lack of a better terminology, the god that you search for. It's who you are. You are no more and no less than any entity that exists, not only in this vibrational level but in any of the other vibrational levels that exist throughout all of creation. And you create your reality. It's an illusionary reality. Illusionary does not mean insignificant. It's a reality that's a reflection of the belief that you hold. And in that sense it's illusionary because if you alter your belief you will alter your reality, absolutely, guaranteed. And you absolutely cannot fail to come to the understanding of who and what you truly are.

You're not put in this existence in the so-called universe as some entity that has to learn some type of lesson. You're not forced to be here. The only lessons that you have to learn are those that you choose for yourself. And you only choose it to allow you to have experiences so that you can validate beliefs that you hold, so that you have the opportunity to experience intense ranges of emotions and feelings. It's really that simple. The rest is illusionary. The reality is illusionary. This alteration of the energy that you are experiencing is illusionary. It's a reflection of beliefs that you hold. It's illusionary, you can change it. Absolutely.

You've chosen to put in place a package of time to validate your belief in time and space because, you see, in your so-called awake consciousness state you like to have evolution, you like to see things pass through time. If it happens instantaneously then there's desire and sometimes this aspect of your so-called awake consciousness personality to believe that because it was instantaneous that it's not real. "I mean, if something's worthwhile it takes time. You have to work at things. You have to have a passage of time."

And so, you as a human consciousness have chosen to put into place this so-called alteration of your electromagnetic type of energy that you sustain throughout your entire universe and you have chosen to put in place a passage of time for that to occur. Your choice. Your choice. It's a human consciousness. And that alteration is occurring, absolutely, because you choose. Not because some entity out there said, "Well, I think that the Earth has reached a point where the entities and the individuals existing who are there have progressed, if you wish, to an aspect of their existence where they can have a different type of experience." Absolutely not. You choose. You as individuals and as a society and as a human consciousness, you choose.

If you wish to believe in any aspect of creation you have but to believe, and you will create the reality to validate the belief system. Not only can but absolutely do on a continual basis. And so you as individuals, existing within this vibrational level, create this reality. You are, once again, the spark of consciousness, this Piece of the One, if you wish, that creates the reality, no more and no less in your so-called existence any more or any less than any other spark of consciousness that exists, not only in your vibrational level but indeed the vibrational levels that exists throughout all of creation.

And you absolutely cannot fail to come to the understanding of who and what you truly are. You don't have to pass any lessons, you don't have to progress, you don't have to evolve. Those are illusionary concepts that you choose to put in place to validate the reality, to make it seem real, to make it seem that it's beyond your control. And that's why you entered into this vibrational level because you as entities chose to be involved in that type of creation. You are not put here by some other entity. And conversely, you are not forced to remain in this vibrational level by some other entity. It's your choice.

And you absolutely cannot fail to come to that understanding at some level of your consciousness. Absolutely guaranteed. You create your reality, you're the god that you search for, and you cannot fail. The rest is illusionary. The rest indeed is a reflection of the belief that you hold. And if you don't like it, change the belief—you've changed the reality. And if there are parts of your reality that you find are very enjoyable and very desirable and you'd like to sustain them and to have them continue, then simply reinforce the beliefs. It's really that simple.

Now. We would break for a moment or two and if you have any questions we would be willing to return and attempt to answer them for you. And in the meantime we would remind you that we are not separated by time or space but rather by a vibrational level and should you choose to interact with us you have but to express the intent and we would welcome that opportunity to interact and to share with each of you, absolutely. And we offer you, once again, our absolute unconditional love and our unending support, and we would bid each of you farewell, with love and with peace. ✨